Lesson 7

Eliphaz’s Second Speech & Job’s Reply Job 15-17

Introduction

Having completed the first round of speeches, Job’s “friends” have made no progress. Convinced as they were of Job’s guiltiness, they were unable to persuade him to agree that he was deserving of this punishment from God. Job would not agree with them, and staunchly held to his innocence.

In Eliphaz’s second speech (ch. 15), he appears to be more harsh and severe with Job than the first time he spoke. Apparently, he did not appreciate Job’s denial of their collective wisdom, and he really wants to make his case. In response (chs. 16-17), Job rejects these counselors, even labeling them “miserable comforters” (16:2). It seems that Job’s faith takes the form of a roller coaster. Although he repeats his view that God’s treatment of him is unfair (16:6-17), his faith soars again in that he has not totally abandoned God. He is sure that in the end, God is his witness, and will vindicate him (16:19). His reply concludes with another despairing outlook on the remainder of his life (17:6-16).

Eliphaz’s Second Speech (Job 15:1-35)

1. How does Eliphaz begin his second speech? (15:1-3) What part of Job’s reply from 12:3 & 13:2 does he appear to be answering? (15:4-6) How does Eliphaz portray Job’s guiltiness? (15:6)
2. How would you describe Eliphaz’s words in 15:7-8? Why do you think he spoke thus to Job? To what does Eliphaz refer in order to ridicule Job? (15:9-11)
3. What theme do you see Eliphaz stressing in 15:12-16? To emphasize Job’s inferiority, to whom does Eliphaz compare him? (15:15-16) How does Eliphaz describe Job in 15:16?
4. In agreeing with Bildad’s first speech (8:8-10), what is the basis for Eliphaz’s argument in 15:17-19? What are Eliphaz’s conclusions in 15:20-24? What is the reason for the wicked man’s sufferings? (15:25-30) How does Eliphaz describe the end of the wicked man? (15:31-35)
